

French in France

May 7-28, 2016

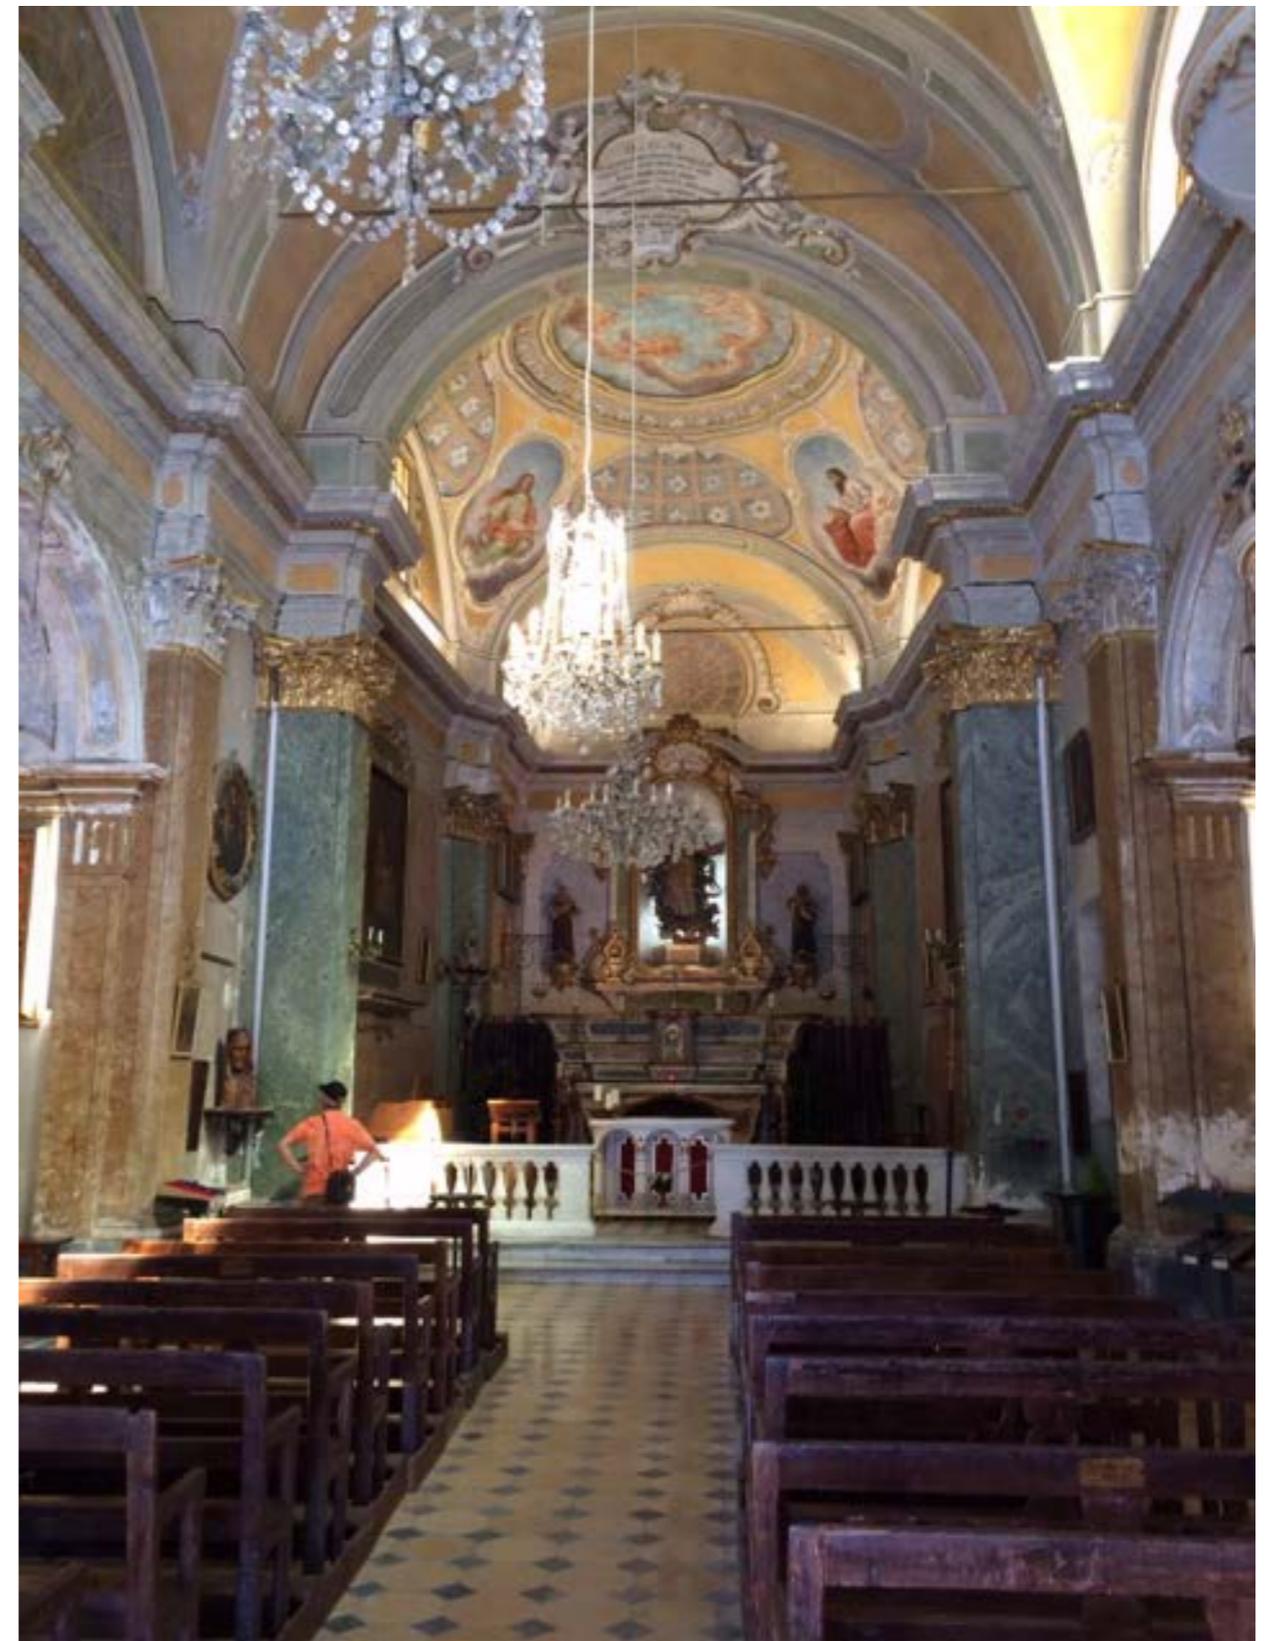

Two weeks in Paris, one week in Nice, France.

Family stay with breakfast and dinner, including conversation over dinner, in French of course!

French classes at France Langue 4 mornings a week; all levels except true beginners (i.e. No French at all), from second semester to very advanced.

The culture class taught by me (Elise Leahy) includes all kinds of visits focusing on art, history, current events, architecture, theatre, etc.

Le Palais de Justice and La Conciergerie

Part of the experience is just living in France for three weeks: a French school, walking the streets, taking the metro, eating and talking with the family.

Study abroad pushes you out of your comfort zone, but you have a new group of friends to lean on to get through. Strong bonds are formed.

The goals of French in France: French and French culture and fun!

- We see the Louvre, the Musée d'Orsay, all of the things you'd expect to see in Paris. Here, I have pictures of some places you probably haven't seen before that we visit.

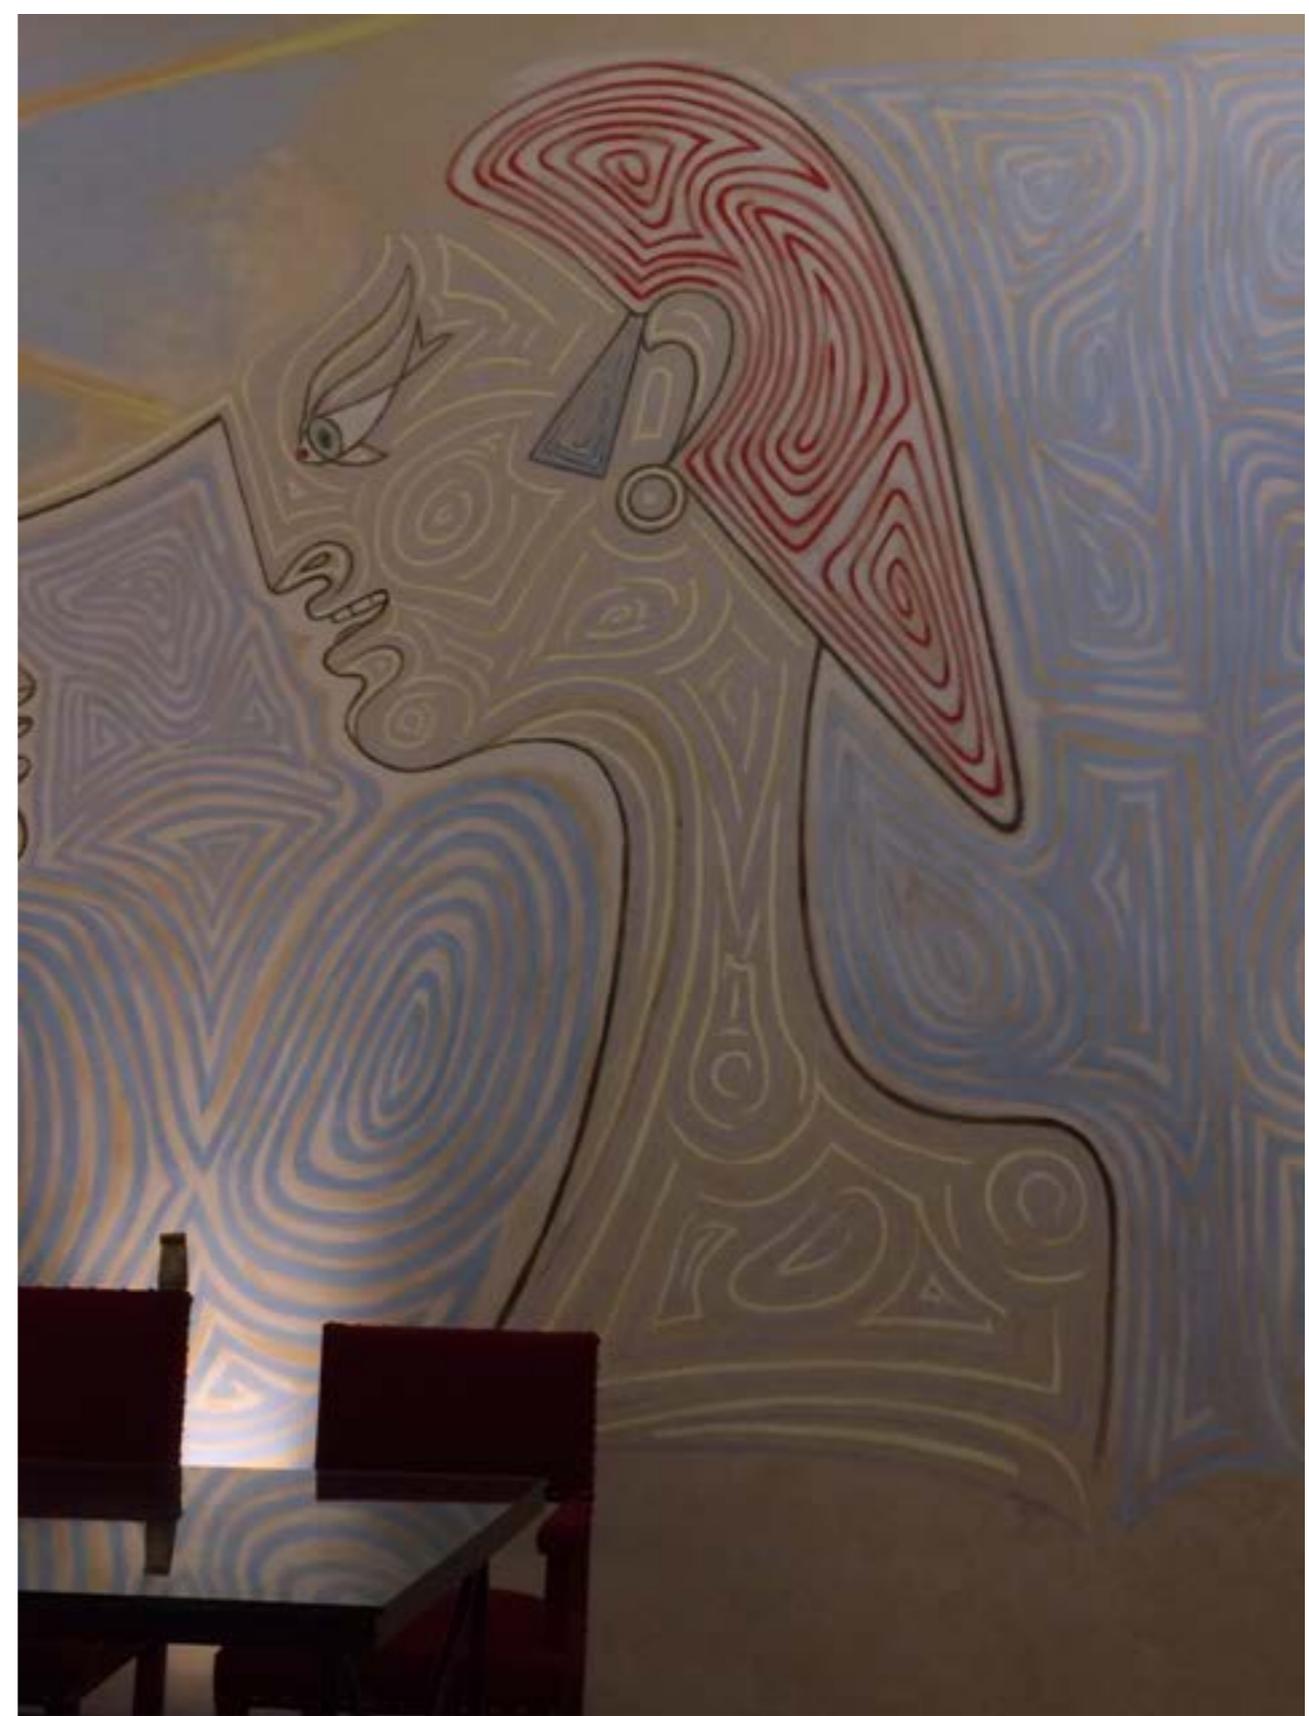

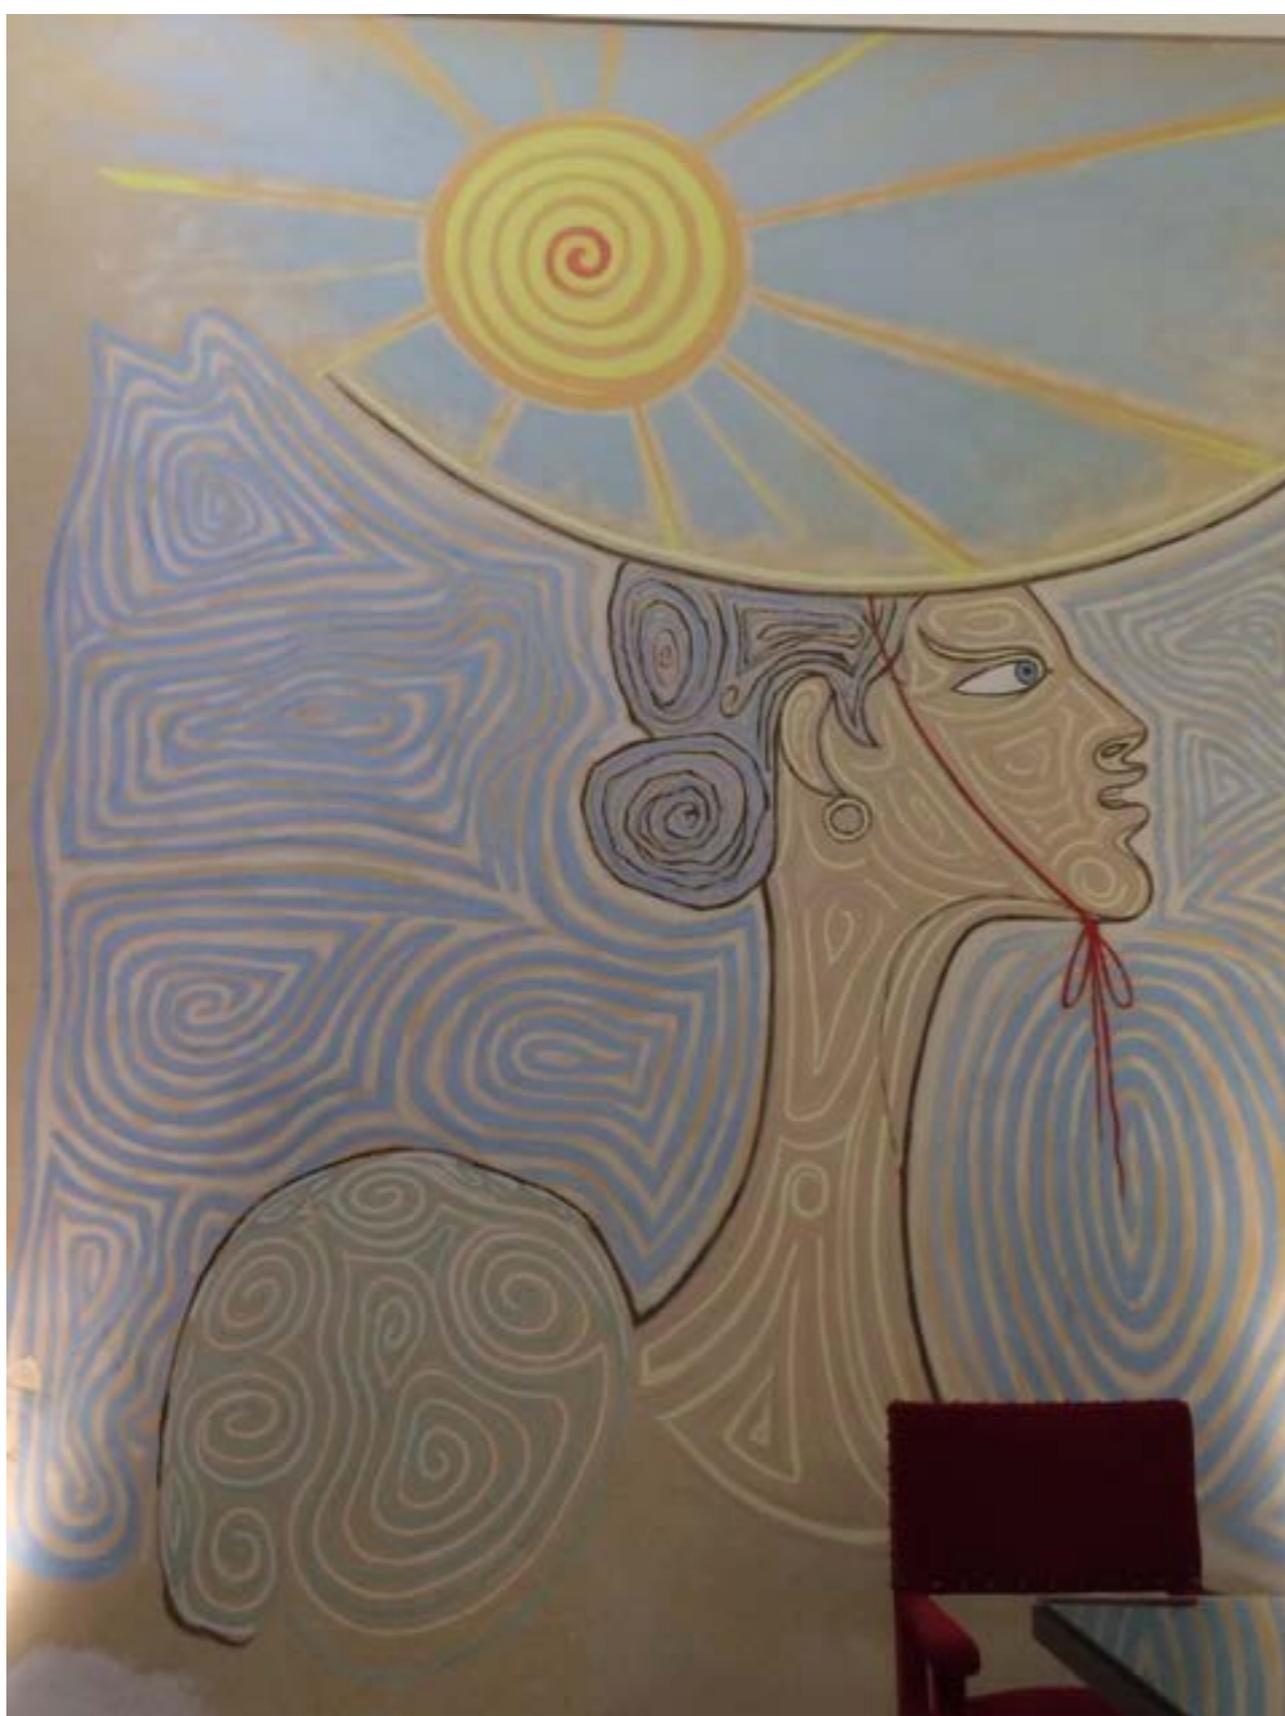

From the permanent collection at the Centre du Monde Arabe in Paris

Frank Gehry's new building in Paris
La Fondation Louis Vuitton

In Nice, we travel by train to neighboring towns to see works such as these by Jean Cocteau.

From La Salle des mariages in Menton, France.
One of several works by Jean Cocteau found near Nice.

$3300 includes all classes, housing, breakfast and dinner, cultural visits and metro and bus passes

Italy is only an hour from Nice, making a quick trip for lunch or dinner so easy! Last year, we said our good-byes there and some of the group hopped a train to Rome.

Tbirds taking flight!

leahy@suu.edu for more information